

30 Day English Speaking Challenge: Family

Week 1: Family – Day 5: Move out

Question: When did you move out of your parent's house? Is that normal in your country?

Vocabulary:

1. Move out: to leave your current residence or place that you live

After I moved out of my parent's house, I moved into an apartment with my best friend.

2. It's/that's not always the case: not always what happens in a particular situation

Most people rely on their car for transportation in the U.S., but that's not always the case.

Vanessa's answer:

For me, I moved out of my parents' house permanently after I graduated college. I moved to Paris to be a nanny for a French family, and I watched their two children. In the U.S., it's pretty common to move out of your parents' house after you finish your schooling, but that's not always the case. Some people move back in with their parents so that they can save money while they're starting their career.
